Git Branching Strategy -4

Git Branching Strategy (4) -4. This diagram illustrates the Git branching strategy. It shows a central 'master' branch (black line) and three feature branches (blue lines): 'cool-feature', 'coolest-feature', and 'most-coolest-feature'. The branches are shown as curves branching off and then merging back into the 'master' branch, with dots indicating commit points.

GitHub Forking -5

GitHub Forking -5. This screenshot shows the GitHub 'Where should we fork this repository?' dialog. It displays a grid of organization avatars, including @cuttingch..., @ethereum..., @Imaginas..., @laramied-..., @smarterb..., and @smarterb... Below the grid, it says 'Can't find what you're looking for?' and lists organizations you already have a fork of (SwapneelMjswot) and those you don't have permission to fork (fossasia).
