The Lumo Lift app is designed to help you improve your posture and reduce back pain. It uses a combination of sensors and algorithms to monitor your posture in real-time. When you're slouching, the app sends a vibration to your phone, reminding you to sit up straight. Over time, this helps you develop better posture habits, which can lead to a healthier back and less pain.

The Lumo Lift app is a powerful tool for improving posture and reducing back pain. It provides real-time feedback and reminders to help you maintain good posture throughout the day. By using the app, you can take control of your posture and prevent the long-term damage caused by poor posture.
